

Sarah's International Academic Journey from Bachelors to PhD

Sarah Dopierala
Goethe Universität Frankfurt

In this presentation, I will give an account of my own personal journey as a linguist from studying in the United States as an undergraduate, heading to the UK for a masters, and arriving at my current position as a PhD student in Germany. This discussion will include (but is not limited to) anecdotes about: international travel, language learning, funding applications, and research pursuits. While this talk will be in the form of a presentation, it is not meant to be a formal "check list" of instructions by any means. Rather it is meant to function as a conversation starter for any students who might have an interest in pursuing their studies or research outside their country of origin.